DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1 and 2 were previously rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Aysta et al. (5,264,184). This rejection has been removed in light of applicant's amendment/arguments submitted 4/16/2004.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

4. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Aysta et al. (5,264,184) in view of Ruediger et al. (6,267,930). This combination of references was presented in the previous Office Action (mailed 10/16/2003) to reject claim 3. This rejection now applies to claims 1-3 since the feature of claim 3 is now present in claim 1. Please see Response to Arguments below.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 4/16/2004 with respect to claims 1 and 2 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In claims 1 and 2 applicant has broadly claimed a test sample preparation device. The device contains a housing with a vacuum channel, a filter assembly, a sampler tray, a plurality of vials and a key mechanism coupled to the housing. In traversing the previous rejections of the Examiner applicant has argued that nothing in the two references discloses or suggests a key mechanism. The Examiner respectfully disagrees with respect to claims 1 and 2. As previously mentioned, claim 1 contains a broad recitation of a "key mechanism". The Examiner believes that this is what the addition of Ruediger provides. Ruediger teaches a stackable system that uses posts through holes align the various layers of the device. The Examiner considers this to be a "key mechanism" given the breadth of the claims and the fact that Ruediger aligns the layers by the insertion of posts through a hole in the layer – like a key inserting into a hole. Applicant has placed no further structural limitation on the "key mechanism" of claim 1 other than it must define the location of the housing with respect to the vials. The Examiner believes this would be achieved using the alignment posts of Ruediger. It should be noted that claim 3 has been deemed having allowable subject matter by the Examiner because the key mechanism IS defined further in claim 3.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 3 and 6-9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: In claim 3 applicant has further defined the key mechanism as comprised of a post having a first and second ends as well as an annular protrusion disposed at the second end of the post and a notch. In claim 6, applicant recites the additional limitation that the key mechanism is coupled between the sampler tray and housing. Claim 7 recites the limitation of the housing and sampler tray having a generally cylindrical configuration and the key mechanism uniquely defining the position of the vials.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
